

Abstract of the Disclosure

The present invention relates to fusion polypeptides, comprising at least two peptides. The invention further relates to the use of these fusion proteins in antivasular therapy of neoplastic diseases and to their use in the production of a drug for the treatment of neoplastic diseases.